In the final months of 2018, we lost three pillars of the MAC and Cape May communities.

The first to go was Jerry Inderwies, Sr. Without Jerry, there would be no MAC or Cape May as we know them. As Bruce Minnix’s running mate in the 1972 City Council election, Jerry provided the key vote for the City to acquire the Emlen Physick Estate (and then lease it to the fledgling MAC). As Mayor in his own right in 2008, Jerry then capped this legacy by pushing through our revised, 50-year lease for the property.

We next lost Pamela Sigafoose. For several decades, she was a beloved member of our tour staff, often resplendent in full Victorian garb as she led tours through the Physick Estate. In retirement, Pamela switched her focus to the Lookout Tower. As a proud Veteran of World War II, she became a fixture at our annual Armed Forces Day Ceremonies, where she moved the crowd with her readings of patriotic verse.

Our final loss of 2018 was Jerry Gaffney. As Mayor in the late ‘90s/early 00’s, he formalized our Trolley Tour station at the head of the Washington Street Mall and helped us move the Physick Estate’s property insurance under the City’s Joint Insurance Fund. In retirement, Jerry became one of the most loyal members of our Observer staff at the World War II Lookout Tower, as well as a frightening ghoul in our Phantoms of the Physick Estate program.

All three will be deeply missed.

Our 46th Victorian Weekend began with a burst of energy on Thursday, October 4, when the Salty Sirens performed An Evening of Burlesque before a sold-out audience at the Chalfonte Hotel. The ladies, who have built quite a local following, did not disappoint. The entertainment was a little more sedate the next day at An Afternoon of Victorian Parlor Games. Susan Krysiak and Ayeshah Dickerson guided a small but avid audience through several gentle pastimes.

Later that evening, Craig McManus led his always popular Ghost Walk, exploring Cape May’s spirits. On Saturday, the Taste Your Way Inn Tour, a new addition to our Victorian Weekend calendar, featured flavorful amuse-bouches and palate pleasing small bites at four participating inns. The Murder Mystery Dinners at Aleathea’s Restaurant were unqualified successes. Written by Jackie Fazio and featuring a new cast, the who-dunnit dinners were both sell-outs. During the day on Sunday, the grounds of the Physick Estate made for a festive setting for the Halloween Happenings. The Salty Sirens were recruited by Anna Marie Leeper to transform into Scarecrow Alley, which featured an interesting and imaginative array of entries. Anna Marie Leeper recruited local schools and scout troops to participate. Our congratulations go to PEOPLE’S CHOICE AWARD Winner Dia los Muertos, created by U.S.C.G. Training Center Family Housing Unit 1501. The Salty Sirens were back, this time with Dead Sexy Boolese at Elaine’s Cape May, with two more sold-out shows. The Physick Estate became the home for Phantoms of the Physick Estate each Friday and Saturday, with kid-friendly day-time tours and a “What Happens After Dark” version for the more adventuresome. We continued the Murder Mystery Dinners, offering a Séance at the Physick Estate and a Ghosts, Graveyard and Mansion Tour featuring a visit to Physick family members at Cold Spring Cemetery. As always, Cape May’s Halloween Parade ended with awards at the Physick Estate and we provided refreshments for several hundred hungry and thirsty marchers. We ended the Halloween season hosting Trick or Treat at the Physick Estate, with treats for scores of local ghosts, goblins, witches, super heroes and more.

Holmes & Watson visited Cape May on two consecutive Sherlock Holmes Weekends, allowing us to double the number of attendees this fall. More than 160 amateur detectives joined Holmes (Zak LaTorre), hoping to solve the mystery. We are sad that “Sherlock Holmes and the Case of A Siren’s Call” marks the retirement of playwright John Alvarez, but delighted that he has turned the mantle over to his niece (and seasoned cast member) Emily Pruna.

MAC’s Annual Meeting on November 8 had a new name (MAC to the Future) and a whole new look – which led to our largest...
Cape May’s Sherlock Holmes Weekend

March 15-17: Challenge yourself with this new mystery in 2019! Join Sir Arthur Conan Doyle’s master sleuth, Sherlock Holmes with Dr. John Watson and follow the clues in a baffling new mystery for 2019, “Sherlock Holmes and The Wake at The Wedding” during Cape May’s Sherlock Holmes Weekend. Discover clues along the gas-lit streets and compete for the $250 grand prize and other valuable gifts. Full weekend packages at $115 per person include welcome reception, performances, tour and luncheon. Weekend overnight packages are available. The Search for Clues Tour on Saturday, March 16 may be purchased separately for $15.

Carroll Gallery Exhibit

“The Iconic Cape May Lighthouse: From the Pages of the First Resort”

April 26-October 31: Curator Ben Miller, author of “From the Pages of the First Resort,” provides visitors with a unique look at the iconic Cape May Lighthouse. Illuminating darkness over the Atlantic Ocean and Delaware Bay for 160 years, Cape May’s lighthouse is the third beacon to guide mariners through the tumultuous waters at the confluence of the ocean and bay. Memories and historic images abound, from the keepers who dedicated their lives to maintaining the light, the MAC preservationists who restored it, and all those who’ve relied upon it for over a century and a half. Free admission. Open daily.

Cape May’s 22nd Annual Spring Celebration

April 26-May 19: Celebrate the season of rebirth in America’s first seaside resort with three and a half weeks of spring events including the Sip Into Spring Festival and crafts show, living history programs, ghost tours, Armed Forces Day and more. Rediscover the 1879 Physick Estate on guided tour with a new theme for 2019-20: “What's For Dinner? Victorian Food & Foodways.” Hear nationally renowned storyteller Elouise Schoettler present “Pushing Boundaries,” savory local flavors with food and wine events; explore local gardens on the Spring Celebration Garden Tour; solve a mystery over dinner during the Murder Mystery Dinners; treat mom to a Jazz Brunch at the Estate for Mother’s Day, and so much more.

MAC DONOR PROFILE: Doug & Anna Marie McMain

Doug and Anna Marie McMain have been enthusiastic MAC members for as long as they have been innkeepers here. In May of 2004, they purchased one of the most recognized and elegant Cape May bed and breakfast inns, The Queen Victoria, 102 Ocean St., and they still love operating it year-round today.

Doug, originally from Reno, Nev., and Anna Marie, a South Jersey native, met and fell in love while working for Ross Perot in Detroit, Mich. in the mid-’80s. Their courtship, filled with countless hours of swing dancing and garden and historic home tours, led to their marriage in 1987. Anna Marie soon “dragged” Doug back home to New Jersey, introducing him to the beautiful Jersey Shore.

Like most innkeepers, Doug and Anna Marie took a circuitous route to their present station in life. They have diverse backgrounds, both having enjoyed successful careers in the computer industry. Through the years, though, Doug and Anna Marie’s true passion was to operate a bed and breakfast inn. Before coming to Cape May, they owned and renovated two historic properties in New Jersey. Their first vintage home was in Brigantine, where they picked up valuable skills in the ownership of historic buildings. They then purchased a dilapidated Victorian property in Stratford, which they renovated into the corporate headquarters of their computer training and consulting firm, Training Works, Inc.

When they eventually discovered The Queen Victoria, they knew they had found their future. “This magical place, with it’s wonderful historic design, beautifully restored and maintained rooms, all just steps from the beautiful beaches and historic charms of Cape May, was irresistible,” said Anna Marie.

They have poured their boundless energy since then not only into running their inn but also into engagement with MAC. In this regard, they’ve managed to fill the giant footsteps of The Queen Victoria’s former owners, MAC Board and community leaders Joan and Dane Wells. The McMains’ financial support has included donations to the Zuckerman Endowment Fund and the 2020 Society. Doug has taken on leadership positions on MAC’s Board (serving as President in 2011-13) and participates on numerous staff teams, often providing technical advice. Anna Marie and Doug have generously opened their beautiful inn to support MAC events, by hosting receptions, such as for the annual Lessons of History Lecture Series each October, and for house tours, such as MAC’s annual Christmas Candlelight House Tours in December. They have assisted MAC’s Director of Media Relations by providing accommodations for visiting travel writers from all over the country, and they enthusiastically support the annual Cape May Music Festival and the Dickens Christmas Extravaganza.

Notably, the McMains are constantly recommending MAC tours and events to their guests.

“MAC always provides a lot of content for the people coming to Cape May. There’s always a lot to do,” said Doug. “I usually recommend, especially for a first-time visitor, the best way to be introduced to Cape May is to take MAC’s Combination Trolley/Physick Estate Tour.”

Thank you, Doug and Anna Marie, for your generous support of MAC and Cape May!

Fall/Holiday Wrap-up

attendance ever. The event was moved to Cape May Winery and, of course, included a complimentary wine tasting. Director of External Affairs Eliza Lotozo and Director of Media Relations Susan Krysiak presented a short, informative program, “MAC By the Numbers.” MAC honored Past President Mary McKenney with its Honor Award for nine years of dedicated service to the organization. Every year at the Annual Meeting, we pull the winning ticket for our Getaway Raffle. In what is a first for us, the winner was Bonnie, a really cute pook. She agreed to share the prize, valued at $2,500 in gift certificates, with her human, though she is saving the gift certificate for a spa day at Muddy Paws for herself.

Our preparations for the Holiday Season began just about the time Sherlock Holmes was departing Cape May in search of more crimes to solve. Construction of the Old-fashioned Christmas Exhibit began under Jean Barraclough’s watchful eye on November 1. Building and decorating the tree and setting up the Dept. 56 Dickens Village took almost three weeks. Maintenance Director Paul Smargiassi and his assistants started even earlier than that. They hung thousands of lights around the grounds, which included a high-reach truck to make sure the giant cedar tree was spectacular for the Tree Lighting Ceremony. The Physick House Museum was transformed into a Victorian Christmas in just a few days, thanks to Curator Gail Capehart and Registrar Ben Ridings and their band of elves. By November 17, we were ready and our ceremony was blessed with great weather and a great audience. Our thanks go to the combined choirs of the Episcopal Church of the Advent and the Cape May Presbyterian Church for entertaining the audience before the lighting. Thanks also to Mayor Chuck Lear, Councilpersons Tricia Hendricks and Roger Furlin and Assemblymen Bob Andrzejczak and Bruce Land for helping us welcome the crowd to the event. We are also grateful to Sturdy Savings Bank, represented by Kathy Makowski, for their generous sponsorship.

Once we officially light the Christmas Tree, the season becomes a blur, with tours nearly every day and night. Generally speaking, the weather gods were on our side during the season. The Christmas Candlelight House Tours were a hot ticket, attracting more than 4,500 tour-goers over three nights. Another popular tour this year was The Ghosts of Christmas Past Trolley Rides. Susan Tischler was the East Lynne Theater Company’s designated storyteller and delighted more than 1,000 people during the course of the season. Our ever-popular Holiday Crafts & Collectibles Show featured crafters and vendors from throughout the region and attracted nearly 1,700 avid shoppers. Our thanks go the scores of volunteers whose assistance makes our tours and events possible.

The Friends groups added more activity to an already busy Fall. On November 4, the Friends of the Cape May Music Festival hosted a concert at the Cape Island Baptist Church. The group’s Coordinator, Sharon Falkowski, arranged for a concert of chamber works featuring pianist Stanley DeLage and violinist Manuela Isabel Romero Gonzalez.

Rich Chiemingo, new Coordinator of the Friends of the World War II Tower, presented a program featuring John Philip Sousa’s patriotic music in honor of Veterans Day.

The Friends of Physick Estate sponsored a bus trip to Princeton to enjoy holiday decorations. First stop was Historic Morven to enjoy the history of the house as well as a festival of trees decorated by community groups. The group adjourned to the Nassau Inn for lunch before a visit to the Princeton University Art Museum.

Education Wrap-up

The Fall is always a very busy time for the Education Division. In addition to demands from local schools, we continue to provide monthly programs for a number of area libraries and senior centers. Our Halloween and holiday-themed presentations were much in demand, which caused Rich Chiemingo to create several related music programs with versions for school kids as well as seniors. Rich spent much of the last several months traveling a three-county area. Students from West Cape May Elementary School and Cape May City Elementary School visited Scarecrow Alley to see their entries. In early November, we provided several Meet the Veteran assemblies for local schools. December was filled with Victorian Christmas Traditions programs, which several schools followed up with field trips to the Physick Estate. We added several Lunch & Learn programs at Lucky Bones on Saturdays in October, November and December and offered a three-week series of Holiday programming at the Cape May Methodist Church. Dr. Elliot Engel returned for another Dickens Christmas Extravaganza, this year with programs on DaVinci, the Vanderbilts and Blackbeard the Pirate. On January 1, Melissa Palmer replaced Bob Heiny as Director of Museum Education and hit the ground running. Melissa has been busy introducing herself to local educators, expanding outreach and adding programs. We ended the year providing services for more than 16,000 students and 5,700 adults.

What 36 years of service have done to MAC Director Michael Zuckerman (left).

Thanks to Michael’s leadership, optimism and energy, we grew rapidly, acquiring by lease the Cape May Lighthouse and then the World War II Lookout Tower, while also developing a professional staff of now 25 full time and 150 part time employees. We are lucky to have many more volunteers than in the early days. We added a Music Festival, four more trolleys, and six weeks of Christmas activities. In coordination with the amazing list of cultural organizations in our area, we helped to promote Cape May, making it a year-round travel destination, not to mention a wonderful place to live.

Working late into the quieter evening hours, Michael wrote grant applications that to date have brought over $15 million to MAC and our community. Without his initiative, these are funds that would have gone to other communities. Michael has actively represented us at the local, county and state levels and is probably the reason regional tourism officials refer to Cape May as “their shining star!”

Starting this January, we have placed advertisements in prominent arts, museum and cultural publications. Mary McKenney, Lee Bellarmino and I are ready to review resumes, conduct interviews by Skype and finally, in early Fall, invite key applicants to Cape May for a final selection. All of this does not mean word of mouth about this position is not important. We found and hired our excellent Chief Operating Officer, Melissa Payne, by following up on a “suggestion” after a lengthy search.

We also ask you to continue to show Michael your appreciation for all he has and will continue to accomplish. He is doing his best to leave MAC in the best shape possible and find an excellent replacement. We are hoping he and Evelyn will decide to remain in Cape May County and will always be welcome guests at MAC activities. Our good friend and founder of our Music Festival, Norris Clark, has offered to coordinate a farewell party as Michael’s departure comes closer. I think his 37 years of service will prompt some interesting stories! I suggested a gift of golf clubs but I think Michael would much prefer cultural travel options.
